Juliette Fowler Communities Announces Nicole Gann As New President & CEO

Juliette Fowler Communities has announced that Nicole Gann has been named President and Chief Executive Officer. She replaces Sabrina R. Porter who has accepted a position with Christian Care Centers. Nicole has served as both Chief Financial Officer and most recently Chief Operating Officer at Juliette Fowler Communities for six years prior to her new appointment. In the new position, she is responsible for the strategic mission of the organization.

“I am humbled to serve at Juliette Fowler Communities each day with our teammates, residents, board members and all of the friends of the organization. Sabrina has created an amazing legacy and it is an honor to accept the passing of the torch,” said Nicole.

With more than 20 years in the health care industry, Nicole is uniquely qualified to lead the organization. She holds a Masters degree in Human Resource Development from the University of Texas at Tyler and a Bachelor of Business Administration and Finance degree from the University of Texas at Arlington.

Nicole’s strong leadership skills are enhanced by her studies and training including the Stagen Integral Leadership Program, John Maxell Leadership Program and Franklin Covey certification. She is a certified Myers Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) trainer and coach. She also has experience in retail and manufacturing prior to her work in the health care industry.

Juliette Fowler Communities includes independent and assisted living, health and rehabilitation services, memory support, a foster and adoption program, and The Ebby House, for young women who have aged out of foster care. The community serves more than 700 individuals and their families per year, all ages, stages and abilities, and employs 200 team members.
